Project profile

- Muse’s Quayside development in Newcastle-upon-Tyne has set new standards for waterside development. Quayside brought high quality office and leisure facilities to a largely unproven location, extending the boundaries of the city centre and creating a lively 24 hour quarter on the threshold of the ‘blinking eye’ Millennium Bridge.

People

Around 2,500 jobs were created in the commercial, hotel and bar/restaurant sectors, over and above the employment opportunities generated by the construction process itself.

Planet

Each of the buildings on Quayside has been individually designed, adding to the visual interest of this unique setting.

Profit

Quayside provided the catalyst for the re-birth of the Newcastle city centre office market. This has in turn provided the step change necessary for further speculative office development elsewhere in the city centre.
