We've seen improved demand for speculative development in city centres, an increased appetite for investment and new housing remaining a priority.

"We've made significant progress on schemes across the UK, with development agreements signed on four new projects, two major outline planning approvals achieved and 18 projects under construction. Our current pipeline of opportunities places Muse in a good position to continue to benefit from market improvements in 2015.

"There's no doubt that our strong and successful track record combined with our talented development team have made a fundamental contribution to this result"
