Muse wins Yorkshire Business Masters award

Muse Developments has been presented with the prestigious Property Business of the Year award, at this year's Yorkshire Business Masters Awards, hosted by TheBusinessDesk.com, following another successful year of regeneration in the region.

Muse was praised for its work at Logic Leeds – the 110-acre industrial and distribution development, which has attracted high-profile organisations, such as John Lewis & Partners, Amazon and electronics giant, Premier Farnell; Wakefield's Merchant Gate scheme delivered by its strategic joint venture, the English Cities Fund, which has brought forward civic, commercial, residential and educational uses, along with being named as Rotherham Borough Council's preferred development partner for its upcoming Forge Island development

TheBusinessDesk.com's ninth Yorkshire Business Masters Awards recognise the achievements of firms of all sizes across the region.

David Wells, regional director for Yorkshire, North East and East Midlands, said: "To win such a respected award for our work in the region is testament to the work of our colleagues and partners across all our projects.

"Yorkshire has seen a range of successful regeneration schemes come to life in 2018 and we're delighted to be named in such illustrious company."
